Getting feedback from students, faculty, employers, and alumni is really important for making improvements in how a College teaches and how students learn. During the 2020-21 academic year, our college collected feedback from all these important groups: students, teachers, employers who hire our students, and alumni who have graduated from our college.

To do this, our college's Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) created different questionnaires for each of these groups: one for students, one for faculty, one for employers, and one for alumni.

These questionnaires were designed to cover a wide range of topics related to the college's curriculum and educational programs. The feedback gathered from these surveys helps us make meaningful improvements in how we teach and what we teach to better serve our students and meet the needs of our stakeholders.

- Feedback collected and analyzed
- Feedback collected

the College's IQAC (Internal Quality Assurance Cell) gathered feedback from students, teachers, Alumni and Employers. This feedback was then shared with each faculty member to understand what students thought about the course content and the performance of specific teachers. Using the ratings provided by students for various aspects and their overall scores, the faculty members in each department adjusted their teaching methods, enhanced their mentoring techniques, and offered guidance to students.

Based on this feedback, faculty members also prepared and submitted a PBAS (Performance-Based Appraisal System) and CR (Career Advancement Report). These reports played a role in their career advancement and evaluation.

Alumni Feedback Analysis

Alumni are regarded as a vital source of feedback for a college, with their input being instrumental in improving the quality of teaching and learning methods within the institution. The analysis of alumni survey results is conducted as follows:

- About 33 percent of respondents support the various skill development activities organized by the college for holistic student development.
- An overwhelming 83.8 percent of alumni believe that the teaching methods align appropriately with the curriculum.
- However, it's worth noting that half of the respondents indicate dissatisfaction with the campus placement opportunities provided by the placement and training cell.
